

A photograph of a geodesic dome structure, likely a greenhouse or a modern architectural feature, against a cloudy sky. The dome is constructed from a network of dark metal struts forming triangular panels. A small, dark, rectangular object is visible on the top edge of the dome. The sky is a uniform, overcast grey.

david vélez
impulsive habitat
tube169

